

Factsheet

Revas Accounting

Revas Accounting is a cost-effective alternative to the traditional back office accounting model. Some or all of the accounting functions are undertaken by Revas specialists including bookkeeping and preparation of management accounts and related reporting.

All our systems are web-based, enabling clients' staff and our team to work collaboratively to maximise efficiency and minimise costs, as you only pay for the hours that you need.

We give you full access to our sophisticated accounting and reporting tools hosted on our secure web servers, allowing you to access your account remotely at any time through the Revas Client Portal to enter transactions, import files and view detailed monthly reports.

Revas has extensive experience in streamlining and automating accounting processes and we can integrate our accounting software with your front office systems and other third party software to achieve both efficiency gains and improved accuracy of data input.

The Revas Accounting service ensures that you receive accurate, on-time, comprehensive and detailed management reports that help you make good decisions and run your business effectively.

Our Services

Real-time management reporting - tailored to your requirements and accessed via the web with drill down to underlying transactions and relevant scanned documents.

Transaction processing and control account reconciliations – we can either provide a fully outsourced service or work with clients' staff who carry out the transaction processing.

Management of purchase ledger and payments to suppliers.

Custom reporting – in addition to standard reports we can also design reports to meet clients' specific requirements for divisional and group performance, benchmarking and KPI monitoring purposes.

Online payment service – in association with Secure Trading, the leading independent internet payment service provider, we offer a comprehensive credit and debit card processing service.

Our clients – your needs

The Revas Accounting service is designed for any organisation with the following business requirements:

- A more cost-effective solution than employing an in-house finance team
- The ability to scale the level of service up or down according to where you are in your business life cycle
- A 'pay as you go' fee structure that means you only pay for what you need at any particular time
- Detailed, accurate and timely information on your organisation's financial performance that you can access from anywhere, any time
- The ability to integrate your existing software applications with your service provider's system and transfer data automatically
- A reliable service that is delivered by qualified professionals – accountants and IT experts – every working day of the year.

Revas Accounting fee structure

Our fee structure is straightforward and reflects the level of activity on your account.

You pay a one-off set-up fee that includes all software licences, server space, data migration, accounting system set up and tailoring and online reporting design and publishing. There is no further charge for software licences or upgrades.

The Revas Accounting monthly service charge is fixed depending on activity levels.

We are flexible on spreading set up fees and will adjust monthly fees as activity increases (or decreases). Clients only buy the hours they need.

WHY CHOOSE REVAS ACCOUNTING?

Since Revas was set up at the end of 2005, the company has striven to provide the five most important benefits that clients demand from a service provider:

Affordability – avoid the high overheads of an in-house finance team and only pay for the services you need.

Expertise – your service is delivered by qualified professionals with a proven track record in their field – accounting and IT development.

Freedom – by outsourcing your back office services, your staff can focus on improving the performance and profitability of your business.

Flexibility – all our services are driven by your unique requirements. We can scale our services up or down to reflect your business's growth cycle.

Peace of mind – As Revas is part of Baker Tilly, you have access to the best advice whenever you need it.
